

Let It All Hang Out

“Schoolhouse Electric creates flawless reproductions, like Edison-bulb lighting fixtures. Some of the site’s chandeliers emit a warm, eerie glow. It’s like a science experiment gone mad—in the best way possible.”

—Justin Livingston, founder of men’s fashion and lifestyle blog Scout Sixteen

City Chandelier 7, Schoolhouse Electric & Supply Co., $219; schoolhouseelectric.com.

Update Your Ceramics

“Frances Palmer’s one-of-a-kind vases lend themselves to dramatic flower arrangements.”

—Emily Thompson, N.Y.C. florist

August vase ($275/small), Phoebe narrow beaded vase ($135), and Plump vase ($160), Frances Palmer Pottery; francespalmerpottery.com.

Splatterware serving bowl ($108/14.5”) and platter ($118/17”), March; marchsf.com.

Be Splashy

“March has the most exquisite kitchen assortment I’ve ever seen. The vibe is refined modern meets English pantry, and its new Web site (finally!) makes it accessible to everyone.”

—Serena Dugan, co-founder of the home décor design company Serena & Lily

Dress Your Shelves

“The best way to make a space feel like home? Books. At Books by the Foot you can build an instant library categorized by color, by subject matter, or by style for that lived-in look.”

—Bronson van Wyck, N.Y.C. event planner
Exotic Colors collection, Books by the Foot, from $30/foot; booksbythefoot.com.

Have a Seat

“You could redo your entire house in 10 days through Chairish, which offers pristine vintage goods, from sofas to lighting. Plus, shipping is free, and items are returnable.”

—Chloe Warner, San Francisco interior designer

Mid-Century Barrel Back Club chair, Edward Wormley for Dunbar, $1,100; chairish.com.

st perfect
e this sheepskin
ve it
st.”
thor of (Rizzoli)
sheepskin rug in board.com.

ersation
over a cute gift for esign Darling—like
actical matchboxes,
e eye candy in a
-table vignette.”
owner of Furbish
N.C.
s, Design Darling, $7 each;